

Newsletter 165 Vaccination: The Removal of "Informed Consent without Coercion" in Australia

18 July 2017

Open Letter

To the University of Wollongong (UOW) Academics and the concerned Australian community,

The removal of "informed consent without coercion" with the mandating of 16 vaccines in government social welfare policies is a violation of good medical practice (*NHMRC) and of fundamental human rights.

The No Jab No Pay/Play policies are founded on three main myths and these policies are not legitimised in Australian public health legislation (Vaccination in Australia is not compulsory): The three myths are:

- 1) That vaccines create herd immunity that is necessary for community protection
- 2) That adverse events to vaccines are rare.
- 3) That vaccines do not cause autism or the significant morbidity (chronic illness) we have seen increase in children since the vaccination schedule has expanded.

My PhD thesis provides evidence that these claims are false yet the University of Wollongong has used a comment by Professor Heather Yeatman (who is not an expert in immunisation, vaccination science or policy) to promote vaccines to the public based on her beliefs. By allowing her to do this, I believe the University of Wollongong (UOW) is breaching its charter to promote integrity in academic knowledge.

Further, universities such as UOW, are funded by industry and they are permitting members of the public to use the university's complaint procedures to make false allegations about students research and reputation. These can be published in the mainstream media because members of the public (including known activists) are not subjected to the confidentiality clause in university investigations. This is being done to students doing independent research on vaccines because industry has a large vested interest in these policies.

In 2014 Dr. John Cunningham, made false allegations to UOW about my academic research on the whooping cough vaccine that was given a high distinction by UOW academics in 2006. These false allegations were provided to the media in an attempt to discredit my research. The UOW Vice-Chancellor of Research, Judy Raper, described this complaint as an "unwarranted investigation" that "should not have happened" and stated that the university's procedures had been misused by the complainant.

In 2016 Dr. John Cunningham again provided unsupported and disparaging comments about the assessment of my PhD in the Australian Newspaper (Murdoch's News Ltd) . These comments were false and UOW did not provide evidence to support these disparaging remarks made by a lobby group activist. This false information about the assessment of my PhD by the University of Wollongong has never been rectified by the university in the media and this is suppressing the vaccination debate.

The University of Wollongong, the mainstream media and industry-lobby group activists are promoting false information on vaccines to the public/politicians and this represents a serious threat to humanity when politicians are basing mandatory and coercive vaccination policies on this false information.

For five years I have provided my academic research and publications to you for free through my website. This is because the mainstream media will not provide this side of the academic debate to the public. However, I can no longer afford to fund my website so if you would like to continue receiving this information could you please donate to my website by clicking on the donate button on the menu.

Australia is removing a fundamental tenet of medical practice in the NJNPay/Play policies without proper public debate that includes doctors, nurses, academics and consumers. This will have serious consequences for the health and medical freedom of the Australian community and it is time to ensure that we have this debate.
