

Newsletter 177 Australia Moving towards a Medical Police State (Part 3)

9 October 2017

In Australia there are three or more doctors and several chiropractors now being investigated by the Australian Health Practitioners Regulatory Authority (AHPRA) for discussing the risks of vaccines as stated in the medical literature.

These doctors and chiropractors are promoting the health and safety of their patients yet they are being investigated by their professional board. This is a board that claims its objective is to 'promote the health and safety of the public' yet if is suppressing the debate by doctors on the safety and necessity for the recommended vaccines.

Where is the debate of the scientific literature on vaccines in Australia?

In contrast to the doctors above that are being investigated for their integrity in protecting public health, AHPRA has refused on two occasions to investigate the following conduct of an Australian doctor.

This doctor, Mr. John Cunningham, a spinal surgeon from Melbourne, has used inappropriate strategies to provide the public with false information about university research on vaccines.

John Cunningham has presented false information about my UOW research on vaccines in public emails, the mainstream media and on social media, and he has been awarded with an Order of Australia Medal for 'Science and Immunisation' promoted by a corporate-associated lobby group - the Australian Skeptics Inc. This gives credibility to his fabricated information. Here is a summary of his conduct as a medical professional in Australia:

1) Sending unsolicited emails (February/March 2014) to members of the public with false information about my UOW research that he endorsed with the email addresses of UOW academics - even though he had no connection with the University of Wollongong or these academics.

2) He made an anonymous fabricated complaint of “allegations of academic misconduct” (July 2014) to UOW about my research and this investigation was leaked to the mainstream media - anonymously. The university stated that John Cunningham had misused the university’s complaint procedures in making these false allegations and that the investigation was unwarranted - no evidence of academic misconduct was provided with his allegations. His allegations were fabricated and they were reported in the mainstream media anonymously, before the investigation was completed. These allegations have been used to smear my reputation in public debates of vaccination and also on Wikipedia.

3) John Cunningham has written numerous articles in the Australian newspaper (News Ltd) in his role as a SAVN / Friends of Science / Aust Skeptic Inc activist that have made derogatory and unsupported claims about the assessment of my PhD research at UOW.

The Medical Board of Australia is also supporting the Australian government to use the terrorist laws to prevent parents and informed health practitioners from coming to Australia to talk about the causes of their children's chronic illness, including autism, to other parents.

How can the health and safety of the public be promoted by AHPRA when it is not investigating doctors that misinform the public about academic research and when it is suppressing the debate of the medical literature by investigating doctors who are providing valid information on the harm caused by vaccines?

Here is a 12 min video of the damage being caused globally to adolescents by the HPV vaccine - Sacrificial Virgins: Part II Pain and Suffering - a vaccine that is only alleged to prevent cervical cancer.

In my next newsletter I will describe the strategies that the Medical Board of Australia is using to prevent doctors from speaking about the risks of vaccines to their patients and in government policy.
